The Claims of Dr. Keyser's Blood Searcher
Upon the reader's attention in every state of the health requiring tonic and alterative treatment is such as to warrant us in saying that it is rivalless, as far as we know, not only as a tonic and depurative to the blood and straining organs, but it at the same time has a gently stimulating operation which does not, like many other stimulants, leave a weakened condition after its use, but a strengthened and invigorated one. The fields of nature have never yielded to research and science a nobler and more wonderful remedy than Dr. KEYSER'S BLOOD SEARCHER. It is simple and harmless and can be given with safety in every chronic disease of debility, or where there is a want of appetite or a general feebleness of the powers of life. If we could properly present the extraordinary cures made by Dr. Keyser's remedy, his present means of supply would soon have to be enlarged to meet the demand. Reader, we speak the truth, and from evidence before us, that Dr. Keyser's Blood Searcher has performed cures of greater wonder than any we have ever seen recorded. Whether it is the skill of the Doctor, or the potency of his remedy, we allow our readers to judge for themselves.

Be careful to get Dr. Keyser's, and take no other, and if it don't help you go and see the Doctor and he will tell you what to do. His store is 140 Wood street; consultation office 120 Penn street. Office hours from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M.

Attempted Child Murder—A Mysterious Affair.
At an early hour of yesterday morning, a Mr. Roesch who resides in the rear yard of a house on West Front street, No. 202, heard faint cries, as of the wailing of an infant, but could not tell whether the sounds did not come from the dwelling houses, but rather from some of the out-houses, he procured a lantern, and searched the premises, until he found that the sounds came from the vault of the privy. He then obtained assistance, tore away the frame work within the out-house, so as to secure access to the vault, and, descending by means of a ladder, found lying amid the filth of the vault a newly-born, naked boy-baby. It had evidently been thrown there by its unnatural mother, that the shame of its birth might be refined upon her, but the young gentleman evidently had no idea of accommodating her by dying, for he was using his young lungs very vigorously when found. Strange to say he was not in the least injured by by his very unpleasant cradle. He will be cared for by one of the neighbors, and will have every opportunity to live, thrive, and, perhaps, acquire sufficient knowledge to some day write a romance of the life and adventures of a poor young man "Found in a Privy Vault."—Cincinnati Commercial.

—At a late meeting of the Royal Institute in London, Dr. Pettigrew delivered a lecture upon the principle of support and progression in the air, as exemplified in the wings of birds and insects. He pointed out the importance of the screw movement, both as an instrument of support and progress. A certain amount of weight in the flying object was shown to be necessary to its hold on the air. Dr. Pettigrew has evidently great faith in the ultimate success of the attempt to devise an apparatus which shall not only maintain itself in the air, but move in a required direction, and the grounds of his confidence are such as may well justify the belief that the feat is not impossible.

BOSTON, April 25.—The steamship Cuba brings Queenstown dates to the 14th inst.

A petition from the people of Luxemburg was presented to the King of Holland, expressing an ardent desire to retain their allegiance under the House of Orange.

The Journal des Debats has an article on the Luxemburg question, saying it would be much better that Luxemburg remain Luxemburg, if it cannot become French or Prussian without a great war, of which no one can foresee all the consequences.

The Gazette de France says the public is persuaded there will be war. It is very sorry that the question of Luxemburg was raised, but says that France cannot recede now.

The Opinione Nationale says France is weighed down by a profound and grievous excitement. The Prussian Government has haughtily refused to evacuate Luxemburg. This is rank ingratitude. Her insolence is unbearable.

The French press is nearly unanimous in holding, whether annexation be contemplated or not, that Prussia must be required to evacuate. The Government alone is silent.

The Liberte says: Far from applauding the silence of the nation at the present moment, we should feel alarmed at it; far from encouraging its patriotism; far from making appeals to its patriotism; far from concealing danger, we should make it public; far from isolating the country by the silence of the Chamber and peers, we should vote the urgency of liberty of the press and public meetings. The journals which are dispensed from stamp regulations ought to awaken the sentiment of patriotism in every cottage and every workshop. Public meetings all over the country would make known to M. de Bismarck, that if there is a German nation, that there is also a French nation; that there is a German patriotism which is susceptible, there is a French patriotism which is touchy. That, in a word, the German people, excited, as they must be to leave Prussia's ambition, will find itself opposed, not only by the French army, but by the French people, determined to defend the French people, and tear into pieces the treaties of 1815.

Another powerful article, by Girardin, in the La Liberte, contains a series of war questions to the French people, the tendency of which, no matter in what sense they may be recorded, goes to show France is all prepared for war; that Prussia is likely to hold Luxemburg, and Napoleon must go to war or permit the nation to be humiliated. He concludes: The question put in these terms has but one solution. War it is. War because Prussia, encouraged by our patience last year will not hold either on the question of Mayence or Luxemburg. It is war because France will not suffer herself to be thus humilli ated. The present government has been reproached with having given less liberty than its predecessor. Well, France, the Government cannot deny this, but this Government has always made one pretension. The pretension of having restored France its rank in Europe; to having carried high the flag of France before humiliated France. This pretension need no longer be a basis. This is the reason why. Between Prussia, which will not yield, and the Empire which cannot yield, war is inevitable, unless, at last, Bismarck exhibits a moderation to which he is not accustomed.

The Liberte containing this article had an immense sale, and its perusal caused a profound sensation. The sale of the paper since has been prohibited on the street. Girardin had previous to the publication of this article received an official demand for the payment of a fine of 5,000 francs, which he paid.

The Cologne Gazette uges a compromise rather than war, by declaring Luxemburg an independent State, or ceding the Duchy to Belgium.

MAXIMILIAN TO BE TAKEN HOME.

Red Revolutionists in Council.

PLANS FOR A REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT IN ROME, SPAIN AND GREAT BRITAIN.

The French Fleet at Cherbourg.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Havana letter says commander Kouta, of the Austrian frigate Dandolo, at a banquet on the 14th, is reported to have said he had received orders to send his executive officer to Vera Cruz to take command of Maximilian's yacht, and convey the Arch-Duke home.

A Paris letter says the Red Revolutionists were in council in Brussels, Gen. Prim appearing as the animating spirit of the grand revolutionary caucus. It was attended by representatives from France, Spain, Italy, Rome and Ireland. The brother of Felix Orsini appeared for a moment, and plans of an immediate republican government in Rome, Spain and Great Britain were discussed.

The French Emperor is pushing forward the development and completion of his iron-clad fleet at Cherbourg with great activity.

FROM NEW YORK.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 25, 1867.

LEGISLATURE VS. CITY COUNCIL.

At a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen last night, a preamble was adopted reciting that the Legislature had passed a bill transferring the duty of issuing licenses and other powers in relation to theatres, junk shops, intelligence offices, cars and car drivers, etc., from the Mayor and City Council to the Board of Police Commissioners for a partisan purpose, when such duties had hitherto been faithfully performed by the municipal authorities, and a resolution accompanying the preamble was also adopted repealing all ordinances relating to such theatres, junk shops, &c., for the purpose of defeating the object of the bill referred to in the Board of Councilmen. The preamble and resolution were also adopted.

FROM MEMPHIS.

Proposed Honors to Confederate Dead—Post Commandant Objects to a Public Demonstration and Will Not Allow It.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MEMPHIS, April 24.—In view of the proposed ceremonies at Elmwood Cemetery, to-morrow, by ladies decorating the graves of Confederate dead, the 6th, 16th, 42d, 25th Infantry, commanding the post, has addressed a letter to Mayor Lafland, in which he says: "It becomes my duty as the military representative of the government, to see that a stop is put, without delay, to such proceedings." He concludes by requires the Mayor to prohibit any procession, speeches or public demonstration, in order to prevent mischief, therefore, and to confine the arrangements to simple acts of mourning for deceased relatives in the customary manner.

FROM THE WEST.

Satisfactory Council with Indians—Troops Landed at Omaha—Pacific Railroad Repairs.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, April 25.—The Democrat's Omaha special says: A dispatch from General Sully, dated Fort Sedgwick, 21st, states he has had a satisfactory Friday morning with Ogallalla and Brute bands of Sioux Indians, one hundred in number, representing four hundred lodges, and that when he left the country between the Platte and Smoky Hill rivers, and longitude of Pole and Plumb creeks.

The steamer Jennie Lewis landed one thousand troops and four hundred tons of government freight at Omaha, to-day.

The Pacific Railroad is repaired to North Platte, two hundred and ninety-three miles west of Omaha, and trains will run regularly after to-morrow. The road east of Council Bluffs is still badly out of order.

FROM MEXICO.

Another Imperial Defeat at Puebla—Horrible Situation at Queretaro.

NEW YORK, April 25.—The Herald's Vera Cruz correspondence says: Marquez, who escaped from Queretaro, arrived from Mexico City at Puebla, with four thousand men, after its capture by the Liberals. A fight ensued, in which the Imperialists were defeated.

The situation of the Imperialists at Queretaro was horrible. They hold only two streets of the place. Maximilian was still there. Persons coming out of the city to get food were shot down.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

Work on Roman Crevasse Suspended for Want of Funds—Freedmen's Bureau Relief for Sufferers by the Overflow.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, April 27.—The work on the Roman crevasse was ordered to be suspended, owing to the want of funds, labor and material. The efforts of the planters to raise funds have been unsuccessful. The loss by this crevasse is over one million dollars. Gen. Howor, of the Freedmen's Bureau, is furnishing rations as far as possible to the destitute inhabitants of the overflowed sections.

Union Pacific Railway—Seventh Section Accepted by the Government Commissioners.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, April 25.—The Government Commissioners to-day accepted the seventh section of the thirty miles of the Union Pacific railway, Kansas branch. This brings the road to Salina, fifty miles west of Fort Riley, to which point freight and passenger trains will run on May first. The amount of transportation done by this road for the U. S. Government for the month of March was $34,955, one half of which was returned to the U. S. Treasury in accordance with the Pacific Railroad act. This is equivalent to eight and a half per cent. per annum on the whole amount of Government bonds issued in aid of this road. In other words, the Company is paying all the interest for the Government, and refunding the principal of the loan which will nearly extinguish the same at maturity.

Indian Depredations.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, April 25.—A dispatch from Julesburg says the Indians stampeded a large number of cattle five hundred yards from Fort Mitchell, on the 19th. The Indians afterwards attempted to draw the garrison out of the fort, but without success. The number of Indians was estimated at 2,500. It is reported that a large party of Sioux are on Rawhide Creek, wishing to come to Fort Laramie, and live peaceably with the whites.

Senator Wilson Gone to North Carolina.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

FORTRESS MONROE, April 25.—Senator Wilson addressed a large audience of white and colored persons here to-day. He proceeded to North Carolina this evening and will speak at Newbern and Wilmington.

Jury Unable to Agree.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BOSTON, April 25—The jury were unable to agree in the case of Jane Langville vs. J. R. Gilmore, known as Edmund Kirke. Charge, bastardy.

SECOND EDITION.
FOUR O'CLOCK, A. M.

FROM WASHINGTON.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 25, 1867.

THE WEST VIRGINIA CASE.

Reverdy Johnson will represent West Virginia on Monday next in the United States Supreme Court, in a suit brought by Virginia for the recovery of Jefferson and Berkely counties.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

The new Department of Education, under the direction of Prof. Henry Barnard, is fully organized and at work.

THE JAPANESE EMBASSY.

The Government has not yet been acquainted with the object of the Japanese Ambassadors. They will be presented to the President early next week, upon the return of Secretary Seward, from Auburn, and will be received without any extraordinary exhibition or official attentions.

TREASURY RECEIPTS.

The receipts at the Treasury from June 30th last to the 23d inst., from internal revenue, amounted to $225,639,000; customs, $137,509,000—a total decrease of about thirty millions from the corresponding period of last year.

THE FORT KEARNEY MASSACRE.

A dispatch from General Sully, at Fort Sedgwick, Colorado, dated the 21th, states they met twenty Sioux from the north, at California Crossing. They gave all the particulars of the Fort Kearney massacre. One admitted he had participated, and personally on the bread. The Commission learned that the Micappas Sioux Aries, Blackfoot, Lower Condomas, and other bands of Missouri Sioux, were not engaged.

General Sully says it is of great importance the Commission should visit these bands at once, to prevent them going to war. It is also very important that the Commission visit Fort Kearney and gather the friendly Indians on a reservation, separating them from the hostile ones. There is a rumor of hostilities with the Cheyennes, which, if true, will materially affect all Indian affairs.

MR. PEABODY VISITS THE PRESIDENT.

George Peabody arrived here this morning, and accompanied by Sir Frederick Bruce and George W. Riggs, visited the President and had half an hour's interview. Mr. Peabody left for New York this evening.

QUARTERMASTER IN INDIAN TERRITORY.

Major A. S. Kimball, United States Army, late Post Quartermaster of Baltimore, has been assigned Chief Quartermaster of the Indian territory, in the department of the Missouri.

LATE CONDENSED NEWS.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

George Weaver, convicted of incendiarism at Harrisburg, was the ringleader in all the important fires which occurred in that city a year ago, and was concerned in the attempt to burn the Equal Rights League House.

For City Judge of Baltimore, the Democrats have nominated T. Parvin Scott, a secessionist and leader in the riot of 1861. The Conservatives have nominated Reverdy Johnson, Jr., a loyal man and a fine lawyer. The Republicans will ratify the last named nomination.

Senator Wilson Visits Jeff. Davis.

FORTRESS MONROE, April 25.—Senator Wilson called on Jeff. Davis this morning and spent half an hour in friendly conversation, reviving old reminiscences and times when they were associated in the Senate, in the course of which Davis expressed the cordial feelings he entertained for the gentleman to get the barge from; dinner being ready we all went to eat, waiting for the man, who had the larger portion of the food, to look on the outside barge and was trying to it, when the fine collapsed; went to go down from the pilot house—the stairway was gone, when I went to go down forward; went back and went through the engine room to the forecastle; found McCall lying on the forecastle and three other men in the river; saw we could do nothing for him and so we concluded to save the other men; by the assistance of some negroes on shore we got them ashore; took a door off and some mattresses and took McCall up to Esquire Saulsbury's; found a physician; had him brought to where them cared for as well as we could; James Keno was engineer of the boat; know him to be a sober, steady man, and entirely to be relied on; know nothing of the cause of the explosion; noticed the steam gage going up about fifteen or twenty minutes before; it indicated only eighty pounds.

David Donaldson, testified—Was mate of the boat; started from the Allegheny and went around to the Monongahela and hitched on to a flat, when the Captain told us dinner was ready. We then went to eat, and after dinner when the explosion took place; the doors were open but the lines were shut. The "look out" was watching while we were at dinner; think she was running but would not be sure; know the engineer; he was a sober, steady man; the boat was first on the Hawkeye. He was considered a safe man, and not a drinking man.

James Billings, testified—Am an engineer on the river; don't know anything of the explosion; know the engineer of the Alex. Chambers; he is a sober man; felt perfectly safe when he was my second engineer; could trust him.

Levi Forker, testified—Was formerly an engineer; am now in a machine shop; know the man who was engineer of the "Chambers;" He is a good mechanic, has worked for me at Preston & Wagner's shop. He is a good man in every respect; would be willing to trust him to take charge of an engine for me. It happened to me that I have become cracked by rivetting. A boiler might be cracked and still stand the test of the inspectors.

George Atkinson, testified—Am Boiler Inspector. Was informed of the explosion; went up and examined the boiler; found the flue had collapsed; examined it thoroughly. We are now examining the case, and I would not like to offer an opinion as to the cause, until we arrive at a decision on it.

John C. Gripps, testified—Am foreman at Thorn's boiler yard. Saw the boiler that exploded on the 20th; looked at the front end of the boiler, formed an idea that there was a crack in the front end of the boiler, of about three inches in length, at boiler maker's end fifteen years, about five years with Mr. Thorn. Was also foreman of boilers at Pa. R. R. Depot for some years. Did not examine the back end of the boiler. The crack was about four inches below the center of the boiler, could not tell whether it was an old crack or not; think it was there before the explosion.

David Henderson, testified—Am an engineer; am on the "Pecrless" known as to the destruction of both of her boilers. In the opinion of the Commissioners I cannot account for the accident on the part of my neighbors, as they have always been among the most prompt to respond to all calls for material aid for any purpose of a patriotic nature. Probably no city of its size in the Union sent more men to the field, and we hope our friends will at once set to work in earnest, and help to erect a monument worthy of the noble men who have given their lives in defence of their country's honor. There are still about five weeks until the commencement of the Fair, and churches not already at work can in that time be organized and raising societies and prepare liberal contributions. Individual effort is also desirable, there will be numerous articles left over which all articles thus furnished can be contributed. Such articles may be sent to Miss M. Pressley, at the residence of Dr. Pressley, Washington street, Allegheny.

The Association adjourned to meet next Thursday, May 2d, at half past two o'clock, in City Hall.

Body Found.
The body of Stephen Spicer, the colored deck hand of the steamer Franklin, who is alleged to have been beaten overboard and drowned in the Monongahela on Sunday night last, by Joseph Jeffries, near Gray's Landing, on Tuesday, the 23d inst., has been found, with several marks of violence about the head, according to a rumored statement made by a colored bystander who examined the body, before a Coroner's jury; but whether the wounds were considered sufficient in the opinion of themselves to have caused death, we did not learn. Spicer's remains were brought to Brownsville, identified and buried in the Bridgeport, colored cemetery on Friday last. Jeffries is confined in Uniontown jail, awaiting his trial, the alleged offence having been committed within the jurisdiction of Fayette county, according to the provisions of an Act of Assembly, giving jurisdiction to the county bordering on either bank of the river within a certain number of yards of the shore—a number greater than the whole width of the river where the occurrence took place, and which would, accordingly, give jurisdiction either to Fayette or Greene county.

More Whisky Seizures.
District Attorney Carnahan, in the United States District Court, yesterday, presented a libel against the distillery of Jacob Kammindeimer, located in Wayne township, Armstrong county. The distillery and fifty-two barrels of whisky seized on the 3d inst., by Deputy Collector Allison, of the Twenty-third District, for alleged evasions of the Revenue law. A monition was ordered to be issued by the Court, directing the owner to appear on the 13th of May next, in behalf of his property.

Mr. Carnahan also filed a libel against fifty-one barrels of whisky, owned by Messrs. Thompson & Patrick, of Brownsville, Pa. The whisky had been shipped to this city, by the firm, for sale, but was seized by Collector Voiz, in consequence of the failure of the owners to comply with the regulations of the revenue law.

False Pretenses.
R. C. Howard appeared before Alderman McMasters yesterday, and made information against William Dravo, charging him with false pretenses. Prosecutor, who is proprietor of a livery stable, alleges that some time in December last, defendant called at his stables, on Third street, and told Mr. Howard's son, who was in the office at the time, that Mr. Howard had said he should have the best pair of blankets in the stables. Mr. Howard's son, therefore, handed him a blanket, which he has not yet returned. The defendant, a resident of Aleppo, was arrested yesterday, and gave bail for his appearance at a further hearing of the case to be had on next Wednesday.

Assault and Battery.
Madison Niles appeared before Alderman McMasters yesterday, and made information against Charles and Amelia Langdon, charging them with assault and battery. It appears that the defendants occupy part of the same house with prosecutor, and that on Tuesday evening last, they gave them notice to leave and deliver up possession of the premises to him. This notification somewhat aroused the indignation of the defendants, who afterwards repaired to his room and made a general assault upon him—the man, Charles, holding him, while Amelia beat him with the poker. The parties to the suit are all colored, and reside somewhere up on the hill. Warrants were issued for the arrest of defendants.

The South Pittsburg Poisoning Excitement—Warning Letters.
We stated yesterday that considerable excitement was occasioned in South Pittsburgh, on Saturday last, by the supposed poisoning of a family named McCune, residing on Meanor street. The family, consisting of father and mother, two daughters aged sixteen and eighteen years, and a grandson aged seven years, were taken violently ill, with vomiting and purging, on Saturday immediately after breakfast, the effect, as is supposed, of the coffee. The father, who drank more than the rest, was most seriously affected, and continued ill during Sunday. The water in the spring on the premises is supposed to have been poisoned, from the fact that Mrs. Flanegan, a neighbor, who also used water from it, was also taken sick on Saturday. In consequence of the circumstance the water has not since been used, and no further poisoning symptoms have been experienced.

On Saturday a member of the McCune family found a letter in the bakeoven on the premises, reading as follows:

"MRS. MCCUNE—Dear Friend and Neighbor: I feel anxious for your safety and welfare, and your little home. I am a neighbor of yours and those that are trying even to destroy your life. I am a German; I have heard threats made against your life, your property and your reputation, and in the most villainous manner; so I hope you will be very careful of yourself and family. Let me entreat of you not to use the water out of the spring. I seen and heard the plot that was made against you, and if it is coming out your family may all be lying a corpse at once. One of your neighbors has determined to exterminate you off the face of earth, if it lays in his power. Now for heaven's sake keep this quiet until I hear some more of their talk, then I give you notice in due time. I dare not tell you at present who I am, but I see any danger I will come and expose the party. If you or your family should show symptoms of poisons, send immediately for a doctor, for your life is in danger. I am sorry for you having sickness in the house all winter and much to contend with; and now this trouble. It is heart rending to know what I do.

YOUR FRIEND AND NEAR NEIGHBOR."

The following was received through the Postoffice, on Saturday evening, addressed to Mrs. McCune, "care of William Nanker," who is a grocer in the borough:

"MRS. MCKUNE:—I dropt you a few lines informing you of malicious threats that was made against you and your family. Since writing I have heard more of their talk; they are bent on revenge; for I would not be surprised to hear of your family all being stricken down at once. Do be careful, for your house will be burnt to ashes. Do try to save yourself it you can, for there a name is given which we deem it not prudent to give.]

YOUR FRIEND AND NEIGHBOR."

The following was received through the Postoffice on Monday, addressed in the same way as the others above:

"MRS. MCKUNE,—neighbor and friend: I again warn you against danger. I am afraid to tell you what I know, for I have never seen in your life, and hope you will not think that I have any object in warning you. I will tell you that you are not from trouble and perhaps death. It is a fearful thing to live under such dreadful threats, I hope you will live very careful and don't forget and pray that God to preserve you from the dangers that threaten you. You may rest assured that you will have to live a constant struggle for life, for the villains around your house like a wolf to destroy you if it lays in their power. If they can't accomplish it in one way, they will in another, to your death, that you will not be able to work. I have no doubt but you will feel very badly, but don't believe any one in the least, for they are watching to get all the power over you they can. Keep quiet and bear it until you catch them in the trap they have laid for you. No more at present. You will hear from me again.

YOUR FRIEND AND WELL WISHER."

There are some further circumstances which might be given, as directing suspicion to some parties, but fearing we might do injustice, will refrain from alluding to them at least until further on, when we may see such a shape as to warrant their publication. We are inclined to the belief that the case is one of attempted murder by poison, the design is to the extent of taking life can only be inferred, as it has not been determined whether the poison is a fatal one or not. It may be that the drug or substance, placed in the spring, was intended to have a milder effect than to make the stomach sick.

The Recent Tow-Boat Explosion—Coroner's Investigation—Further Adjournment.
The jury, impanneled by Coroner Clawson to inquire into the cause and manner of the death of Patrick McCall, met at the Mayor's office, on Saturday evening. The deceased, our readers will remember, was injured by an explosion of the boiler, on board the "Alexander Chambers," on Thursday the 18th inst., and died the following day. The following testimony was taken in the case:

Edward Donnelly, testified—Was the physician, who attended McCall, after he was brought to the hospital; found him severely scalded; the scalding extended from his neck down all over the body, and especially on the breast. He also had his right ankle dislocated and one of the bones broken. He never recovered from the shock received from the scalding; he died as I thought he was in danger. I am sure from having sickness in the house all winter and much to contend with; and now this trouble, it is heart rending to know what I do.

FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1867.

THE FATE OF MEXICO.

The Mexicans possess one of the finest countries on the globe, and put it to about the worst possible use. For legitimate enterprises they have neither aptitude nor stability. For revolutionary and anarchic adventure they have no equals. Rest and quietude, settled industry and laudable improvement, are too tame and languid for them. The fierce delights of contention, tumult and bloodshed inspire them with a wonderful energy. Civil war is their regular employment; conspiracy and revolution their ordinary condition.

The French occupation afforded them the only chance of a stable government they have had since they threw off the rule of Spain. But that occupation, professedly undertaken for the purpose of obtaining a settlement for alleged spoliations, on the one hand, and with a view to better the civil and social condition of Mexico, on the other, was in reality entered upon as a measure of hostility to the United States. The French Emperor exerted his best powers of persuasion to induce the British government to unite with him in recognizing the Confederate States as an established and independent nation. It may reasonably be conjectured he was not without hope of consolidating those States with Mexico, on some conditions, so as to create a really formidable power as a counterpoise to what would be left, in that contingency, of the United States. Willing as the British government was, it did not dare to affront the feelings of the middle classes by taking the step. While it hesitated the rebellion assumed a less favorable phase. Meanwhile the authorities at Washington were vigilant and adroit in the management of intrigues with the Mexican republicans, exciting them, in the interest of the United States, to reject and repel a golden opportunity—the only one that had offered for thirty years—for establishing a government strong enough to enforce order at home and command respect abroad. To what extent subsidies in moneys or munitions were furnished them may be conjectured, but a definite conclusion cannot be arrived at from the data open to the public. But this much is certain, as a result of these intrigues, and of earnest remonstrances with NAPOLEON the French troops were withdrawn and the throne of MAXIMILIAN was suddenly demolished.

The inference is natural that as the United States was chiefly, if not exclusively, instrumental in driving the French out, and in breaking down the empire they had established, it was bound in honor to see that the Mexicans fared none the worse for yielding to its councils, and to take pains to have a Republican government set up that should not disgrace the name. Having served its ends in accomplishing the humiliation of France, the Washington government seems disposed to let the Mexicans manage their own case as best they may. Left to themselves they have sed, as by an inevitable instinct, into their old habits of faction, and their ast end is likely to be worse than their first. Every chief has his partizans, and each clan is implaceable towards every other. What the French left the sword of Discord will probably devour.

It is now rumored that Secretary SEWARD, having consummated his purchase of the North Pole, is turning his attention southward, and means to acquire a title to Lower California. Who he will bargain with is not material; nor will he stickle about the price. Which ever of the leaders of faction happens to be in his graces will suit his purpose. The United States, with any show of title, or none at all, will have no difficulty in holding the territory, if it pleases to make the attempt. But a decent respect for the opinions of mankind will constrain it to get some sort of title, if no better than that on which it extended its southern boundry to the Rio Grande. Seven millions of dollars in gold, paid to JUAREZ, would enable him either to emigrate with a princely competency, and settle down to cock-fighting, like SANTA ANNA, or, if fighting battles with his human rivals suited him better, to give a temporary impulse to his forces. That this sum would contribute in any perceptible degree to assuring his ascendency is not an admissible conjecture. It might help make the discord yet more profound, but there is no sorcery in it to deduce order out of the existing confusion, by transforming cut-throats into law-abiding citizens.

The case of Mexico is deplorable enough as it stands. But it appears probable that she has sorer trials before her than any she has gone through. Her people are swallowed up of anarchy, and have not common sense sufficient to educe out of it the common relief of a military despotism.

DISCUSSION AT THE SOUTH.

SENATOR WILSON, of Massachusetts, has started, or is about to start, on a tour through the Southern States, extending as far as New Orleans, for the purpose of discussing the issues involved, directly or remotely, in the Military Government Act. This is well. One of the most urgent needs of the people of the South is to be made acquainted with the feelings and purposes of the men of the North, and particularly of the Republicans. For a score of years before the war, the most persistent and unscrupulous means were used to diffuse throughout the South an inadequate and damaging conception of the ideas and temper of that portion of the Northern people who were opposed to slavery. All printed matter embodying their thoughts was suppressed, whether in the form of books, pamphlets or newspapers. They were denied the right to give social utterance to their thoughts, either in sermon, literary or scientific lecture, or political speech. Excluded from every form of access to the Southern people, they rested under frightful malecictions. They were uniformly represented as combining all that was mean, selfish, uncharitable, bigoted and malevolent.

Impressions thus formed through a long series of years are not easily obliterated. To some extent republican newspapers now enter into circulation at the South. At all events, the mails are not regularly searched for them in order that they may be destroyed. Whoever is so inclined can receive and read them without incurring a visit from a Vigilance Committee, though he may, perhaps, still be subjected to social disparagements and indignities. Still, it is better that Republicans, who hold representative positions, should go South, mingle with the people, and fully discuss the questions in which they are specially concerned. There are advantages in personal contact. When an individual or a class has been uniformly pictured as wearing horns and hoofs, and "breathing out threatenings and slaughter," there is no way so effectual for dispelling the popular delusion as submitting to actual inspection.

Mr. WILSON may be taken as an average type of northern radicals. Not as learned as SUMNER, nor as sensible as FESSENDEN, nor as vehement as WADE, nor as practical as CAMERON, he may be taken as a fairer sample of the bulk of the Republican party than either of them. He is emphatically of the people.

But it would be well to have other Republicans than Mr. WILSON go South to speak; for, in the first place, one man, in so large a field, can do comparatively little; and, besides, other men, by reason of superior powers, are generally held to be abler and purer exponents than he of the aims and sentiments of the Radicals.

Some of the Southern journals have proposed that Mr. WILSON, and other representative Republicans, who may visit the South to speak on political issues, shall be challenged to public discussion. This is better still. The novelty of such proceedings would attract unprecedented concourses. All the essential points would certainly be brought out, and subjected to most careful examination. The listeners would soon perceive there were two sides, where they supposed only one existed; and the result would be a better understanding. Who will follow Mr. WILSON'S example?

ACQUISITION OF TERRITORY.

Rumor alleges that the prospective acquisition of British Columbia had weight in determining the Senate to ratify the Russian treaty. Upon how substantial or unsubstantial a basis this rumor rests it is impossible at present to say. It seems probable that the acquisition has been discussed between the President and members of his Cabinet; and that Senators and Representatives in Congress have speculated upon it. But it is hardly probable that any direct steps have been taken.

This much is certain, however, that the British government has concluded to settle the Alabama claims. Of course it will higgle as to the amount to be paid in each particular instance of loss, with the design of reducing the aggregate to the lowest practicable figure. When this shall be done it will be quite happy instead of liquidating the amount in honest gold to strike a dicker turning out a lot of wild land for which it has no use, taking a receipt in full, and leaving the United States to pay so many of its citizens as were despoiled of their ships and merchandize. It is conceivable that if our government would in advance agree to take the land at a good round sum, the British government would be content to make a liberal adjustment of the claims in dispute; for in that case the damages would not come out of its strong box, but out of the Treasury of the United States, to be reimbursed, if at all, as the land comes into market and finds purchasers.

Of course there is no greater probability of satisfying the greed for increased possessions in a nation than in an individual. When ALEXANDER had conquered and annexed all the countries he knew of, he is represented as manufacturing eloquent tears because a limit was set to his ambition. Whether he really wept or not, it is doubtless true he would have delighted in new fields on which to display his genius and power. Rome kept adding one province to another until the mass lost identity and coherence, and fell in pieces. CHARLEMAGNE did something wonderful in the same line, but his successors found it impossible to hold the inheritance. NAPOLEON I. had a lust, not of universal dominion, but of holding most, if not all, of Europe. He found it easier to acquire than retain. England has contrived to agglomerate more provinces, kingdoms and peoples than ever before acknowledged one sceptre, but there are already indications of inevitable disintegration.

Plausible theories have been invented to demonstrate that the United States is an exception to all nations, that has existed in the tide of time, and that its destiny is to be as unique as its progress thus far. The events of the last few years have shaken these specious speculations not a little, demonstrating that the Caucasian race has lost none of its essential characteristics by being transplanted into a new region.

Nevertheless, it seems to be the "manifest destiny" of the United States to absorb the whole of North America, and take its chances in doing the best with it that its genius and the march of events will allow. We confess, even it be to our shame, that we do not take kindly to Mexico. The United States has, indeed, displayed marvellous powers of digestion in assimilating the various populations that have sought homes upon its soil, but we cannot help thinking the Mexicans would have too much even for its incomparable stomach. If the mixed races of Mexico would only die out and be no more, as they certainly ought in deference to an ethnological system much in vogue among the Democrats before our rebellion; or, if they would wither and give signs of speedy extinction from the presence of a higher type of men and a nobler civilization, as the Indians farther north unmistakably do; these magnificent table lands would be a dazzling prize. But they do not.

If the British desire to get up a trade, why do they not make an offer that will create a sensation? If they would only include their possessions on this side of the continent, as well as on the western, the matter would arrest attention and mark an epoch. Ultimately the job will have to be done. Why not do it now?

A Man Tied to a Tree and Beaten with Clubs.

Near Little York, in Washington county, on Wednesday night last, eight or ten ruffians, armed with clubs, under cover of night, went to the house of Mr. Lester, a peaceable and law-abiding citizen, broke open the doors, rushed into the house, and dragged him from the bed where he was sleeping in the embrace of his wife, took him outside and tied him to a neighboring tree, and then, in the presence of his wife and children, and notwithstanding their tearful entreaties, beat him over the head, face and body, until they supposed him dead, when they went off through the woods, yelling like so many mad devils.

The leader of the gang is said to be the same man who led the mob that hung Tally and Brooks in Brownstown. He is said to be a desperate character. No doubt when he hung Tally and Brooks he hung his equals, if not his betters. His name is Thomas J. Lester. He, together with his brutal confederates, have been arrested, and are now under bond to appear before 'Squire Mundan, one week from to-day, for preliminary trial. James Ghormley, Esq., has been employed by the people near Little York to assist the prosecution.

If the facts in regard to this affair are as we have detailed them, then Thomas J. Lester and his gang should be made an example of that would warn other scoundrels from the commission of similar outrages.—New Albany (Ind.) Ledger.

GIVE NATURE A LIFT.

People expect too much of Nature. They trifle with their health and their constitutions, and then are surprised that they fall sick.

The pressure of constant mental or bodily labor, upon the animal powers, is tremendous. Very few systems and constitutions can bear up against this pressure unassisted. And to this the unhealthy influences which lurk unseen in the air we breathe, the water we drink, the lassitude produced at this season by the change from the rigor of Winter to the warmth of Spring, and it would seem to require almost superhuman vigor to keep in a perfect health without reinforcing the physical energies.

But how reinforce them? Certainly not with adulterated stimulants. There is no poison in the outer air, or in the atmosphere of furnace-heated rooms, or work-shops, or factories, so pernicious as those steadily-burning fluids. Why use them, when HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, a vegetable tonic without alloy, are everywhere obtainable? Nothing has ever been offered to the feeble and debilitated so harmless in its nature, so powerful in its invigorating effects, as this celebrated

PINUS CANADENSIS.

A tree which is abundant in Canada, Nova Scotia, and the more northern parts of the New England States, and is also found in the elevated and mountainous regions of the Middle States, and abounds in medicinal virtues. Dr. SWETT, of Boston, has prepared a medicine from the sweet inside bark of the pine tree, called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND, which is one of rare value in all debilitated states of the kidneys. It acts like a charm in all diseases of mucous membranes, enabling them to regain their lost tone and energy. It will be found well adapted to all those diseases where Buchu has been tried and failed. It is likewise well suited to chronic coughs, and an infallible specific for old and debilitated cases of asthma. Many persons who at first only took a bottle of this medicine, to try, afterwards came back and got a dozen, or half dozen, which effected radical cures of diseases of the bladder and kidneys of years standing.

Diabetes, a disease that has been looked upon as among the incurables, is immediately relieved by it. Notice the certificate of ASA GOODWIN, published some time ago.

The United States Dispensatory, speaking of the pine, says: "It is powerful in scurvy, bronchitis, and other diseases of the urinary passages; in fluxes and chronic inflammation or ulceration of the bowels, in chronic rheumatism, and affections and irritations of the mucous membrane." It is exceedingly valuable in all gravelly affections, bloody urine, and when there is red and white sediment. It can be taken without interruption to one's usual occupations, and like sickening, reduces a bracing, healthy power of endurance and vigor. Price, $1 per bottle; six for $5. STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA,

ALLEGHENY COUNTY, ss.—In the Orphans' Court in and for said county.

The petition of ANN SUTTON, Administratrix of the estate of Harriet Bloor, deceased, and of Richard B. Sutton, Guardian of the minor children of Harriet Bloor, deceased, was presented to the Court, showing, That the said children, to wit: Theodosia Bloor, Alfred Sutton Bloor and Louis James Bloor, are seized in fee of the following described property, situated in the Borough of Clarion, County of Clarion, and State of Pennsylvania, to wit: All those certain pieces or tracts of land situate in the Borough of Clarion, known and numbered in the plan of said Borough as out lots Nos. 47 and 48, and inlot No. 4, of No. 48, and inlots Nos. 168 and 169, all of which lots, by sundry conveyances in law, became vested in the said Harriet Bloor, now deceased.

Your petitioners therefore pray the Court to grant them an order to make sale of the said described real estate, with the appurtenances, for the maintenance and education of the said children, freed from any incumbrance arising out of any claim on the part of James H. Bloor as tenant by the courtesy; and also praying that the Court would direct a Citation to issue to the said James H. Bloor, to show cause why the prayer of the petitioners should not be granted, and the said described real estate be sold for the support and education of the said minors.

Now, therefore, we command you, the said James H. Bloor, that you be and appear before the Judges of our said Court, at an Orphans' Court to be holden at Allegheny, in the City of Pittsburgh, on SATURDAY, the FIRST DAY OF JUNE next, to do and receive what may then and there show cause if any you have, why the prayer of the petitioners should not be granted, and the said real estate be sold as to be sold, freed from any incumbrance arising out of any claim you, the said James H. Bloor, might have as tenant "by the courtesy," and herein fail not.

Witness, the Hon. JAMES P. TERRETT, President Judge of our said Court, at Pittsburgh, this 25th day of April, A. D. 1867.

AUCTION SALES.

CARRIAGES,

SHAFFER'S

Bazaar and Carriage Repository,

DIAMOND STREET, NEAR LIBERTY,

On Wednesday, May 1, 1867.

Every person in the city or vicinity in need of anything in the line of Buggies, Family Rockaways, Rockaway Wagons, Jaunting or any other light vehicle, should make it a point to be on hand. The sale will be without reserve, and as the vehicles are of the very best and most finished manufacture, there can be no mistake in getting any of them. Mr. Shaffer's establishment is well known, and the many who have, during years past, purchased from him, have always been more than satisfied with them. He has on hand a very large stock of all kinds of light vehicles, all of his own manufacture, which are without doubt equal to the very best in the country. We therefore advise an inspection of this splendid stock, feeling sure that it will give satisfaction. Any of the stock can be bought at a great reduction on former prices, which have been a choice stock of His name will also be sold.

Terms of sale will be made known on day of sale.

GREAT AND PEREMPTORY SALE OF

OIL PAINTINGS,

Friday Morning and Evening, April 26th, at 10 and 8 o'clock.

The convenient store room, No. 65 FIFTH STREET, lmm diately below the Dispatch building, has been rendered for the occasion elegant and ornamentary sale, as above, of over 8 elight superb works of Art, which have been carefully chosen from the studies of eminent artists. The pictures are warranted be genuine productions of the artists named in the catalogue, which includes fine originals from the pencils of Fechner, Wilson, Fravens, Foster, Walker, Young, Rosen, N Hayn, Hamilton, Horsent, Juillard, Carl Zuts, Dyke, Meadows and others equally celebrated.

The above will be now arranged, and on free view to the public, every day and evening, till sale. Lovers of the Art, and Connoisseurs, respectfully solicited to give this superb collection a critical examination. Ladies specially invited. The collection of Original works of Art is certainly the finest ever offered at public sale in this city. The Paintings are richly mounted in gilt frames. Warranted pure gold picture.

Sale peremptory.

COUNTERFEITS.

A Complete List of Counterfeit Currency in Circulation.

[From the New York Herald, April 21.]

Counterfeiters do not hesitate to stoop to imitate the very lowest denomination of the fractional currency. The five cent stamp is in as much danger as the hundred dollar bill, and vice versa, and at the present time it will appear almost incredible to the uninitiated, there are in circulation false imitations of no fewer than thirty different kinds of greenbacks, Government tenders, national currency notes, &c., &c. The following, carefully selected, is a list of those known to be out at present:

NATIONAL CURRENCY.

10's on the Flour City National Bank of Rochester, N. Y. Well executed and likely to deceive.

20's raised from 1's. The vignette of the 1's is two female figures with hands clasped, one pointing upward. The vignette of the 10's has a figure of Franklin drawing electricity from the clouds, and on the back of the bill is De Soto discovering the Mississippi. On the back of the 1's is the Landing of the Pilgrims.

20's on the First National Bank of Portland, Conn. Well calculated to deceive.

100's on the National Bank of Bristol, R. I.; raised from 5's. On right end, left upper border it reads: 100, hundred, 100, hundred, 100, and on right and left lower border it reads: 100, hundred, 100, hundred, 100, hundred; on the right upper corner, 100 in die work; on left upper corner, 100 over the head of Columbus. Reverse side—on upper right and left corner, 100; on lower right and left corners, C. On top and bottom margins, 100, hundred, repeated six times.

100's on the First National Bank of Boston, Mass. Imitation. Well done. Examine all notes of this denomination, as this plate will probably be altered to other banks.

Also 100's on the Ohio National Bank of Cincinnati.

100's on the Central National Bank, New York city. Imitation. Well calculated to deceive an expert. Look out for them.

10's on the Highland National Bank, Newburg, New York. Imitation. On the right end female seated on a spread eagle; left end, Franklin drawing lightning from the clouds with a kite. Very poorly done.

20's on the First National Band of Indianapolis, Indiana. The general appearance of the bill is bad, particularly the reverse side, the baptism of Pocahontas being poorly done. It is, however, a close imitation of the genuine, and calculated to deceive. The plate is liable to be altered to any of the national currency banks.

COMPOUND INTEREST NOTES.

60's, United States compound interest notes, issue of July 15, 1864. On the right end, 50, male portrait; left end, full length figure of a female with right hand resting on a book, fifty.

50s, United States compound interest notes, issue of December 15, 1864. The female figure on the left end is imperfect, particularly in the mouth, forehead and hair. These notes may readily be detected by the scratchy appearance of the drapery on the female at the left end, and also by the imperfect appearance of the male portrait on the right end.

10's, compound interest notes. Imitation vignettes, full length figure of Washington on right end 100, Justice seated, holding scales in her left hand; on left end, 100, female seated, holding American colors and leaning on a shield. The only difference between the counterfeit and the genuine is that the die on the left hand corner touches the letter U in "United States," and the engraving of the word "States" is done in a very bungling manner.

The Treasury Department in consequence of the above counterfeit will issue no more of this plate. We would caution our friends against taking any of the present issue.

50's on the compound interest notes of the issue of July 15, 1864, are reported in circulation.

GREENBACKS.

1's on the United States Treasury notes, (greenbacks.) Close imitation, but the engraving is coarse, especially the head of Chase, which differs from the genuine in the eyes and mouth, but more particularly in the nose, which is of an entirely different type.

2's on the United States Treasury notes (greenbacks.) Paper and engraving coarse. A poor affair.

5's on the United States Treasury notes (greenbacks.) New counterfeit 5's of the issue of March 10, 1862, have just made their appearance in this city, the South having been pretty well flooded with them. The words "United States," when compared with those of a genuine bill, have a scratchy appearance. In general appearance, paper and printing, they are well calculated to deceive.

1's on United States legal tender notes (greenbacks). Can be readily detected by the inferior style of the engraving, particularly the head of Chase. The mouth is crooked, the eyes imperfect and the hair on the top of the head resembles side hair brushed over to cover baldness. The back is of lighter green than the genuine. This bill, upon a hasty observation, is well calculated to deceive.

Counterfeit 5's are in circulation, for execution of work they bear no comparison with the genuine. The portrait on the left end and the figure of Liberty on the left end are exceedingly coarse. They are unmistakable.

10's on the United States legal-tender notes (greenbacks). A new counterfeit ten dollar greenback is in circulation, dated Washington, March 10, 1862, letter C. The pink seal is badly done, and the border of the note, which consists of repetitions of the letter X, is very irregular. The appearance of the bill altogether is bad.

$20's on the United States treasury notes (greenbacks). Imitation. Head on top, Act March 3, 1863. The female in the centre, with left hand resting on a shield and right hand on a sword, has the head turned to the left and the eyes looking in the same direction. In the genuine the head is turned the same, but the eyes are looking front. The foot in the counterfeit is indistinctly seen, and counts four toes; in the genuine it is not visible. On the reverse side, in the words "United States of America," the shading runs all through the letters, in the genuine the letters are shaded on the edge only, showing white between. The above is in every respect an accurate description for the issue of March 3, 1863.

50s on the United States legal tender notes (greenbacks). Imitation. May be detected by the four buttons on Hamilton's vest, which are very distinct on the genuine, but scarcely discernible on the counterfeit. The back of the counterfeit is a darker green than the genuine.

100s on the United States legal tender notes (greenbacks.) Imitation. The note is smaller than the genuine, the spread eagle is very coarse, and the shading of "United States" is badly done. The bill is calculated to deceive.

What Makes a Man Rich?

There are two questions which almost every man has to consider in the course of his life, but which very few answer correctly, and on the correct solution of which depends very much of the comfort and almost the length of life of thousands. They are these—What is it to be rich? and how to become so? As to the first of these, mankind have very vague and illusory than every common and ordinary attempt to define the word rich. "It is the opposite of poor," says one of the popular dictionaries, with a spasmodic effort to be very clear and exact. But when you turn to the word poor, it also is defined as "the opposite of rich—needy, necessitous." Taking this as our point of departure, then it is at least clear that he who is always wanting more, and in need of that which he cannot obtain, whatever else he may possess, is certainly not rich. But riches and poverty are dependent more on internal dispositions than on external circumstances. There is certainly no given amount of gold or silver that can be laid down as constituting wealth. Before the war, a man worth a hundred thousand dollars would have been called rich by variously circumstanced people, while now it takes five or ten times that sum with some people to make a respectable fortune. Every one knows how much his own ideas on this subject have altered within the last ten years. In Prescott's Conquest of Peru it is related how the sudden possession of the precious metals by the soldiers of Spain produced such a disturbance of value in Europe, and especially in America, that a quire of fine paper was worth several thousand dollars, and common soldiers gambled away in a single night fortunes that some of the grandees of Europe would have esteemed quite respectable. It is said that one man possessed an image of the saint made of wrought gold, eight feet in diameter, across the face. It was taken from the front of one of the temples of the natives, but he gambled it away at cards in a single night, and day dawned on him a beggar. Hence came the Spanish proverb, "To play away the sun before sunrise." There is getting to be a reckless sort of gambling and speculation with many, not indeed so disturbing in degree but as absurd and mad in point of principle, as many of the speculative transactions of the world renowned period. In the oil regions a man whose wells were producing him three thousand dollars a day two or three years ago, has since been reduced to poverty.

That man is rich who possesses more than he requires; and he is poor, no matter what he possesses, who needs more than he has the power to procure. The riches of riches is that of plenty, of power, of dominion and rule. He who has control of his own desires and wants, and can supply them, is rich. He who longs for what he cannot command is poor, no matter what amount of money or property he has. Hence riches and poverty are always fluctuating, not only with the supply of paper or of precious metals, as many suppose, but still more with the demand occasioned by the hopes and fears in the mercantile faith of the hour and of the man. When from any cause the demand is in excess of the means of supply forthcoming, whether it be for one dollar to purchase a dinner, or one hundred millions to construct a railway across a continent, there is poverty.

The easiest way of becoming rich is by that sort of self-denial which always rigorously keeps the wants easily within the means. When John Wesley began to preach he commenced as a curate, with an income of thirty pounds a year. He lived upon twenty-eight, and gave away two. He was so far a rich man. By degrees his income doubled and trebled, but he kept up his simple personal habits, and always had an abundance. He who keeps his desires considerably within his income has in that a sense of power and plenty which constitutes the very essence of wealth. It gives him control over circumstances which a man of opposite habits soon and invariably loses. Hence it is that a habit of steady, moderate, and well proportioned benevolence really enriches the man who cherishes it, because it keeps poverty a long way off. Had John Wesley begun, as many do in all professions, by spending two pounds a year more than his income, debt and degradation would have followed, and his habits of expenditure would probably have increased faster than his income. Every man when he has finished his education, ought, if in health, not only to earn enough to meet all his wants and be generous, but to lay by something, however small, for a rainy day. The consciousness of this is a mine of wealth. It makes a man inwardly rich in the true sense of the term, and the habit will grow—a manly sense of independence will grow with it.—Phila. Ledger.

Sure Cure for a Black Eye.—Whenever tried the following cure for a black eye, never having had our optic windows done up in mourning, although pugilistic artists have long promised to touch them up a little for us. Immediately on the eye being struck with force enough to make it black, apply a cloth wet with water just as hot as you can bear it; keep on applying the water for fifteen or twenty minutes and the congealated blood will become thin and pass off into its natural channels, and leave the eye, perhaps swollen, but clear of blackness.

Under the head of "Amusements," the Cincinnati Enquirer publishes a well written obituary of a respectable citizen of that city. A new feature in journalism.

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remains of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect safety.

ONE TABLE SPOONFUL of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Alabon Dick Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Geo. Amin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from an excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla, its result is extraordinary, more so than any other drug; in the strictest sense, a tonic with this inestimable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so reduced, and yet irritable, as renders other substances of the tonic class unbearable or injurious.

COURT REPORTS,

District Court.

Before Hon. H. W. Williams.

Mary Ann Daily vs. James Millingar. It was alleged that in July, 1866, plaintiff sold at auction lots of ground in South Pittsburgh, which were knocked down to defendant for $6,700. A deed was executed and presented to defendant at his residence in Philadelphia, but he declined to receive it and refused to pay the price for which the lots were sold. Subsequently they were again sold, bringing $5,300. Suit was brought to recover $1,500, the difference between the first and second sale. It was claimed the defendant was informed by the auctioneer that the minimum price at which the lots would be sold was $6,000, when he signified $6,700 as his highest bid, at which the lots were knocked down to him in his absence. On trial at adjournment.

The City School Superintendency.

Following is the legislation procured changing the school law in certain particulars, to which we made some reference yesterday:

SEC. 7. The school directors of any city or borough in this Commonwealth, having a population of over ten thousand inhabitants, may, by a majority of the whole number present and voting, of literary and scientific acquirements, and skill, and acquaintance in the art of teaching, as city or borough superintendent, for the three succeeding school years, and the said school directors shall determine the amount of compensation for such city or borough superintendent, which compensation shall be paid by the same officers as pay the salaries of teachers in such school district, and in the same manner and at the same time as are paid. Provided, That nothing in this act shall prevent the directors of any city, or borough, elected after the passage hereof to serve from the time of election until the commencement of the school year, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, from filling a vacancy should any occur for the unexpired term of said office, nor from increasing the salary of a superintendent at any time: Provided also, That the President of the Board of Directors or controllers of any city or borough in this Commonwealth shall, at any time after the passage of this act, if so requested in writing, by seven Directors or Controllers, call a convention, giving at least ten days' notice thereof, of all the Directors of said city or borough, to determine whether they will elect a city or borough superintendent in accordance with the provisions of this act, and if at such meeting, it shall be decided to hold such an election, the said directors shall again convene at the time appointed by the last section of this act, or any other time, in accordance with its provisions, and at a place fixed upon by themselves, when they shall proceed to carry their determination into effect in the same manner as is done by conventions held for the election of county superintendents, and all subsequent conventions for carrying into effect the purposes of this act shall be held in the same manner by said president of the board of directors or controllers of such city or borough.

SEC. 8. That it shall be the duty of the president and secretary of the meeting of the directors of any city or borough, at which a city or borough superintendent of common schools is elected, to certify the name and address of the person elected city or borough superintendent in pursuance of the provisions of this act, and those of all other candidates who received votes, together with the amount of compensation fixed upon by said directors; upon the receipt of such certificate, if no valid objection be received within thirty days after the day of election, the superintendent of common schools shall commission the person so elected for the term for which he was elected, but if objection to issuing such commission be made within thirty days, the superintendent of common schools shall proceed with like power, and in the same manner as he is now required to do, where objections are made against issuing commissions to persons continuing to be elected county superintendents.

SEC. 9. That from and after the appointment of a city superintendent in any city or borough in this Commonwealth, and the proper notification of the superintendent of common schools of the fact, such city or borough shall not be within the local authority and jurisdiction of the county superintendent of the county in which such city or borough is located, except that in the matter of holding the annual teachers' institutes, as provided by sections third, fourth and fifth of this act, in which the city or borough superintendent shall co-operate, and the quota of the annual State appropriation to said city or borough, shall not be diminished by reason of such contribution to the salaries of the county superintendents, nor shall the directors of such city or borough vote at any election for superintendents.

SEC. 10. It shall be the duty of all city or borough superintendents to take a similar oath or affirmation to that now required of county superintendents, to perform, within the limits of their several jurisdictions, all the duties now by law enjoined upon county superintendents, and to discharge such other duties as the by-laws, rules and regulations of the respective boards of directors may require; and it shall be their duty, in addition to an annual report, to report monthly to the department of common schools such facts relating to their work, and the condition of the schools under their charge, as may be required by the superintendent of common schools, and to attend meetings of superintendents called by said superintendent of common schools.

Trespass and Damages.

Charles O'Donald appeared before Alderman Taylor, yesterday, and made complaint against — Weiser, charging him with trespass and damages. Prosecutor avers that he left four and a half yards of cloth with defendant, who is a tailor, for the purpose of making therefrom a pair of pants and a vest; and that he paid defendant $4 on account, and a half for making the same; that when he received them from Weisser they were useless to deponent on account of the manner in which they were made. He further claims that defendant refuses to make good to him the loss he has sustained. The defendant was notified to appear for a hearing.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, April 25, 1867.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. F. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 141¼; Eighty-fives, coupon, 109; Five Twenties, 1862, 109½; do, 1864, 108⅝; do, 1865, 108⅝; Consols, '65, 107¼; Ten Forties, 98¼; Seven Thirties, 106; 2d and 3d issue, 105½; Michigan Southern Railroad, 69⅜; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 69¾; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago, 92½; Chicago and Northwestern, common, 32; do preferred, 57¾; New York Central, 97; Reading, 101½; Erie, 36½; Chicago and Rock Island, 87¼.

There is a decided improvement noticeable in Railroad stocks; the shares of all the leading railroads have advanced ¼ per cent. Cleveland, Fort Wayne and North Western are the strongest on the list. Holders of Fort Wayne are principally large capitalists, and the majority of them are original subscribers to Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroad stock, which was principally taken at Frankfort. North Western shares are strong, and money if remains easy, will command their former prices—36 @37 and 64@65, respectively for common and preferred. Cleveland and Pittsburgh is strong, but such a small road is a mere foothold for small cliques, and unsafe to handle.

Government securities are lower to-day, in sympathy with the decline in Europe, and large blocks of bonds will arrive here soon from Europe; a decline of old Five-Twenties must necessarily depress other descriptions of bonds. Gold opened at 139¾, but jumped to 141¼, declined to 140¼, and is now strong at 141¼, with an advancing tendency.

James T. Brady & Co., bankers, corner of Fourth and Wood streets, dealers in Government Securities, quote the same in New York to-day as follows:

U. S. Sixes 1881	109⅝
" 1862	109⅝
" 1864	108⅜
" 1865	108⅜
U. S. Ten-Forties	98¼
U. S. Consols 1865	107¼
August Seven-thirties	106
July "	106
July "	105⅞
Dec., Compounds, 1864	116

—In some quarters it is stated as a fact, that by the terms of the act under which the 7-30s were issued the right to convert them into 5-20 bonds may be cut off on the day of their maturity. It would be inexpedient for holders of 7-30s of the first series maturing on the 15th day of August next to make the exchange under the present conditions, which are in themselves very favorable indeed. On this subject of conversion, however, a correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce asks "whether the Government will give a 5-20 bond dated 1867 for the 7-30s maturing in August, (when they mature) or force holders to receive 5-20s of 1865 for them? Or if we let the time run on, say until November exchanging, will we then be obliged to receive the currency? In reply the Journal of Commerce says:

"The holders of these notes maturing August 15th, 1867, can not be compelled to take the 5-20s dated in 1865. The promise is very explicit that they are convertible at maturity, at the option of the holder, into a 6 per cent. bond redeemable after five years and payable twenty years after August 15, 1867, bearing six per cent. semi-annual interest payable in gold. No other bond will answer the purposes of such redemption, when the notes mature. In our judgment such a bond should be issued promptly and tendered to the holders in advance; but this has not been done. Those who have exchanged have taken the bonds of July, 1865, while the government and its agents have bought freely of the notes, and sold out the bonds to cover as the fluctuations in the market for either enabled them to do so. The holder of the notes is not legally bound to declare his option on the day of maturity. At maturity, for all such payments made on and after the date of maturity; and we do not think the Secretary would quibble about this interpretation. We cannot learn positively that the regulations for the August bonds are ready; but we suppose that the work has not been neglected. The Secretary is now authorized to make this exchange, but he can be compelled to do it beyond a legal question."

—The New York Times says: It would be well for the holders of the first series to understand that if they fail to fund or sell their notes before the 15th of August, they will be paid off in lawful currency. If filed at the Treasury on the 15th of August, as for funding, the holders on can receive a Five Twenty bonds for the consolidated issue of 1865 at once; or, if they prefer, a new series of Five Twenties, dating from 15th of August, 1865, they will receive them as soon as they can be prepared and registered. It is not believed that such a class of bonds would prove as marketable or cheap to the as desirable as the January and July Consolidated series of 1865. But there is no purpose on the part of the Treasury to withhold them, if preferred, and this preference expressed on the maturity of the Seven Thirty per cents. Meanwhile every facility is afforded, in advance of the obligation to convert at that time, for funding the notes into the consolidated Five Twenty registered or coupon stock of 1865.

—As the United States Revenue Assessors are now engaged in distributing their blanks to tax-payers, difficult questions are daily coming up for solution, and which Assessors find it as difficult to determine as do the tax-payers themselves; hence the appeal to the latter. Among other questions it is asked, "is an inheritance to be included in an income return, and taxable as such?" It is not. All legacies, bequests and property passing by inheritance or devise, in the hands of executors or administrators before they are paid over to the legatees or distributors, and the receipts of such valuables does not impose any additional revenue tax on the receivers. Neither are gifts of money (according to a decision of the Commissioner) to be reckoned as income, unless they are in some sense a payment or reward for services rendered.

Chicago Cattle Market.

CHICAGO, April 23.—The fresh receipts of Beef Cattle at the Union Stock Yards are 2501 head. Entered sales, 734 head, at prices ranging from $6@7 for fair to good butchers's steers, and from $6.40@8.90 for one of the choice shipping beeves. The market opened moderately active, but upon the arrival of large supplies, buyers held off for concessions, and at the close the market rules quiet and a shade easier. The receipts consist mainly of distillery fed cattle in very good condition, and advices are to the effect that large numbers are yet to come. With this prospect buyers are not over-anxious to pay outside prices, and shippers of corn fed stock will do well to watch the market closely, and not depress values by an over-supply.

Dry Goods Trade.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 25.—Dry goods market lacks animation, and prices are greatly depressed for medium and low makes of cotton and woolen fabrics. Carpet trade is good and prices steady. Prints do. for good styles and only poor sale for inferior makes. Unbleached muslins sell slowly at a reduction. The best makes being worth 20 for Pacific extra; 19½ for Lawrence, C. D. Stark, 9. Print cloths slow sale, at 9¼@9½.

New York Financial Matters.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 25.—Money unchanged. Call loans at 4@9 sterling. Closed weaker; 90@94. Cotton bills difficult. The sale of gold has been less active, but closed steady. Government securities in the forenoon were ¼@¾ lower on bonds of '62 and '64. This afternoon the market was quiet and heavy. Registered of '81, 105¾@106; coupons of '81, 106@106¾. 5-20s, registered, of 62, 105½; 5-20 coupons of '62, 106¾@106⅞; coupons of '64, 108¾@108⅝; coupons of '65, 108⅝@108⅜; do, of January and July, 107¾@107⅝; August 7-30s, 105⅝@106¼; June, do, 105⅝@105⅜.

Border State bonds quiet and steady; Missouri, 93¾. Stock Exchange was firm on railroad, with a fair business after session: Erie rose to 36, which caused a general improvement, but there was a slight decline from the highest point just previous to the one o'clock board. The market was firmer at the first board, but became dull though unsteady at the second board. At the last open board prices were generally lower, Erie was strongest, while New York Central and Michigan Southern were the weakest shares on the list. Large numbers of short contracts have been closed the last two days, hence the market naturally fell off in the absence of any stormy bull element. All the Board Directors of the Michigan Southern were re-elected.

William Heath & Co. report the following prices at 330 P. M.: American Gold 140¾@ 140⅝. Ohio Certificates 23¼@23⅝; Canton 41¾@41⅞; Cumberland 28¼@28½; Mariposa preferred 19¾@20⅛; Western Union Telegraph 58¾@58⅝; New York Central 96¾@97; Erie 36¼@36⅝; Hudson 93; Reading 102@ 102⅛; Michigan Southern 69⅜@66⅝; Illinois Central 99¾@99¾; Rock Island 87¼@87¾; Northwestern 32@32¼; do preferred 58¼@ 58½; Fort Wayne 99¾@100; Chicago and Alton 89¾; Pacific 120¼@121. There is a good business in Mining Shares, and prices are low. Gregory 36¾@36⅝; Corydon 67¾@68; Quartz Hill 210@215; Columbia 325. Sensederfer higher at 75@76.

New York Produce Market.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Cotton is firm and in good demand, with sales of 1,500 bales including Uplands at 28c. Flour is a shade firmer, but the quotations are unchanged; receipts 1,903 barrels, and sales of 9,300 barrels. California flour is firmer, with sales of 2,700 barrels and sacks at $15.75@16.00. Whisky is quiet and unchanged. Wheat is 1@2c better, with sales of 1,000 bushels red spring at $2.25, No. 2 Milwaukee at $2.30 @2.37; Amber, $3.33, and white California, $3.26. Rye is dull with sales of 1,500 bushels State rye at $1.64; and western was offered at $1.65. Barley is firm with sales of 2,000 bushels Canada West free at $1.22. Corn is 1c better and closed dull with receipts of 5,000 bushels, and sales of 16,000 bushels mixed western, at $1.05@1.07, in store, and $1.08@1.09, afloat, for new western yellow, western and white southern, $1.07½; new mixed western, $1.05@1.06; old mixed and 1@2c better, with some speculative inquiry; receipts of 100 bushels, and sales of 14,000 bushels western at $1.05@1.07, and do. 7c, and State, 8@9c. Rice is nominally unchanged. Coffee unchanged. Sugar steady and less active, 300 hhds. Cuba at 10¾@12; Porto Rico, 11¼c. Molasses dull, 200 hhds. Porto Rico, 65@70c; Barbadoes, 60c. Petroleum—crude, 16c; refined, in bond, 27c. Tallow unchanged. Pork dull, 500 bbls. at $22.50@22.80. New mess closing at $22.50, cash. Old mess, $18.50@19 for prime, and also $21.75@21.89 for prime mess; also, 250 bbls. new mess at $23.12. Beef quiet. Beef steady; sales 320 tierces at $33@34, prime. Beef hams heavy, sales 270 bbls. at $40@41. Bacon steady, sales of 200 boxes at 13@15c for long clear, 14½@15c for short ribbed, and 12¾ for short clear cut. Cut meats unsteady, sales of 235 packages at 8½@9¾c, shoulders; 12@13, hams. Lard quiet, sales 1,000 bbls. at 12¾@13c. Butter dull and unchanged. Cheese steady.

St. Louis Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, April 25.—Tobacco—the war news has a depressing effect on the market and shippers are standing off. Lugs, low grades and trashy leaves are nominal. The quotations are 8@11; 12@14¼c for lugs; 14½@17 for common leaf; 17@19 for factory dried leaf; 20@22 for good to fine dark leaf, and 23@25 for bright do; 30@33 for black wrappers; 48@ 50 for fine leaf, and 55@75 for fancy do. Cotton is flat and very little doing. Flour flat, weak and unsettled, with small sales at $13 for Spring, double extra, and $15.25 for Fall do. Wheat is unsettled and the best grades are 10c lower; Spring grades are generally neglected, and good Spring is quoted at $2.62; good, prime and strictly prime fall, $2.85, $3.00 and $3.05; choice do, $3.05. Corn is much excited, and early sales were made at $1.14, $1.20 and $1.22, the latter for very choice white; but the demand and interest fell off towards the close, and the market became entirely unsettled. Oats, Barley and Rye are unchanged. Provisions dull and heavy and prices are unchanged. Lard is unchanged. Whisky is nominal.

Cincinnati Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, April 25.—Flour firmer, with a good local demand. Wheat 3c higher and very scarce; sales of No. 2 spring at $2.77, and No. 1 winter at $3.35. Corn opened buoyant and excited, but closed rather dull, 2c in bulk and 4@5c in sacks higher. Oats advanced to 70c in bulk and the demand was good. Rye steady at $1.70. Barley unchanged. Whisky dull, at 25c. Provisions—very light volume of business for several weeks past. Compared with last week, prices remain about the same. Owing to extra drove of cattle, had there been any sales we would doubtless have brought a fancy figure. The latest prices reported are 9¾ for a choice a nice bunch of fat steers would have brought 9, and possibly 9¾ to 9¾. Stock quoted at 5 @ 5½ to 6½, according to quality and condition. A. Warner sold a good drove of 45 head of nice Ohio steers, weighing 57,350 to Duffey & Co., at 8¾. Smith & Talman sold Mayne & Co. 28 head of medium stock cattle at 5¾. J. B. Huff sold Mace & Co. 16 head, weighing 17,225, at 7,30. Smith & Talman sold G. Wernz 21 head, weighing 15,625, at 5¾, and same from sold Peter Kiemen 18 head, weighing 20,475, at 6. Hedges & Taylor sold Smith & Mooney 34 head of good retailing cattle, weighing 44,000, at 8¾. Klemen sold Wood, Morrell & Co. 18 head, weighing 20,700 at 8½.

HOGS.

The market for this class of stock was considerably buoyant last week, and was especially was this the case in regard to light hogs, such as are shipped to New York, and prices ruled a fraction higher than last week. The following sales were reported:

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, April 25, 1867.

CRUDE—There are no new characteristics in the Petroleum market worthy of special notice. The dullness which has prevailed for several days past still continues, and there are no prospects at present of any immediate improvement. We can report sales of 400, 850 and 2000 bbls. for immediate delivery, all at 6¾, and this is considered an outside price for spot oil. For the last half of May, 7c could probably be obtained—7¼ for first half of June, and 7½ for last half of same month. It is remarked in our last report, there are but comparatively few buyers, and the margin in running oil is so exceedingly light that holders feel discouraged, we might say disgusted, with themselves and everybody else. A telegram from Oil City to-day quoted at $2.35@2.40.

REFINED—But one sale reported to-day, 500 for May, and 500 for June, standard white, at 27½c, delivered in Philadelphia. The prospect of a foreign war has brought about a panicky feeling both here and in the east, as it is feared, and with good reason, too, that in event of hostilities, the consumption of oil will be greatly restricted in Europe, and, of course, shipments would fall off materially. If there are war rumors more than anything else that has produced the stagnation which has prevailed for some time past, and no improvement can be expected in advices are to the effect that large numbers are yet to come. With this prospect buyers are not over-anxious to pay outside prices, and shippers of corn fed stock will do well to watch the market closely, and not depress values by an over-supply.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, April 25, 1867.

The sharp advance in gold has imparted more strength to the markets generally, and, especially, Groceries, which are considerably excited and higher. Flour, too, is much firmer, though devoid of excitement as yet—a telegram from Milwaukee to-day reports a material advance, and the advance there, if maintained, will produce a corresponding result here. Provisions quiet and unchanged.

GROCERIES—The grocery market is considerably excited, and an advance on both Sugars and Coffee has been established. Coffee is quoted at 24½ to 25c for common; 26½ to 27c for prime, and 27½ to 28c for choice. Sugars—11¾ to 12c for Cuba; 13¾ to 14c for Porto Rico; 13½ to 14½c for New Orleans; Crushed, 16½c; N. Coffee, 13¾ to 14½ to 15c; "C," 14½c. Syrups—"Booth & Edgar," 80 to 83c; "Adams," 95c; common to good, 65 to 75c. Molasses—Cuba, 76c to 78c; Porto Rico, 75 to 80c; New Orleans, 95 to 95c; Teas—good to choice Y. H., $1.45 to $1.80; common to good, 85c to $1.35; good to choice Oolong, $1.10 to 1.50; Japan, $1.25 to $1.50. Rice—Rangoon, 10¾ to 11c; North Carolina, 11½c.

GRAIN—Wheat is quiet and but little in this market; sale of 1 car Penna. Winter at $3.05. Oats in good supply and less active but unchanged; may be quoted at 62 to 63c, on track and on wharf, and 65 to 67c, in store. Sale of 1 car Shelled Corn at $1.05—firm and in demand. Rye—last sale at $1.60—but little offering. Barley may be quoted at $1.05 to $1.15.

—Since the above was written, we have a sale of 1000 bushs Shelled Corn at $1.05, and 1000 bush Rye at $1.55.

FLOUR—Is firm and looking up again, though, as yet, prices are unchanged. We continue to quote at $14 to $14.50 for Spring Wheat; $15 to $16 for Winter Wheat; and $16 to $19 for fancy St. Louis brands. Rye Flour, $9 per bbl, and Cornmeal, (white bolted) $5.

PROVISIONS—There is a slight improvement to note in the demand for Bacon, but prices are unchanged as 9½c to 10c for Shoulders; 13¾c to 13½c for Ribbed and Clear Sides; 15½c to 15¾c for Plain Sugar Cured Hams, and 16¼ to 16½c for Canvassed Hams. Dried Beef, 23. Lard, 13 to 13¼, and Mess Pork, $23 to $23.50.

STARCH—Has advanced 1½c, and is now quoted at 7¼ to 7¾c for "Madison," to the trade, and 8 to 8½c, in a jobbing way. "Silver Gloss" 12¾c, and Corn Starch, 13c.

SEEDS—Clover seed is selling in a retail way at $12, but it would not begin to bring that figure for shipment, as it is only worth $8.50 to $9 in Philadelphia. Timothy Seed is quiet and unchanged at $3. Flaxseed is in good demand at $—.

BUTTER—Is dull, with liberal arrivals, and a supply considerably in excess of the demand; choice prime to choice Roll may be quoted at to 28c 30c, and choice at 32c to 33 cents.

EGGS—Continue very dull, and the tendency is still downward. We now quote at 15 to 16c.

POTATOES—In better supply and dull and we found lot could probably be purchased at a decline. In store, prices remain unchanged at 95c to $1 per bush.

CHEESE—Is dull but unchanged—selling all the way from 13 to 14 for common to fair; $4.50 to $5 per bbl for good, and $5.50 to $6 for choice.

DRIED FRUIT—Is dull but unchanged—small sales at 8 to 9c for Apples, and 14 to 15c for Peaches.

HAY—Is quiet but unchanged. Good to strictly prime Timothy Hay may be quoted at $25 to $26, on track and wharf.

OILS—Crude Oil is firm but unchanged at 90c for No. 2, and $1.10 for No. 1.

CENTRAL LIVE-STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, April 25, 1867.

CATTLE.

The operations in cattle were again very light this week, reaching only about two hundred head, all told. The reason for this is very simple; there was no supply, and while there were buyers, and buyers, in extreme prices, the pens being almost entirely deserted, they had no chance to do anything. The great proportion of the cattle are being shipped through to New York on Western account, but very few offered for sale at these yards, and to this more than anything else, may be attributed the very light volume of business for several weeks past. Compared with last week, prices remain about the same. Owing to extra drove of cattle, had there been any sales we would doubtless have brought a fancy figure. The latest prices reported are 9¾, though a nice bunch of fat steers would have brought 9, and possibly 9¾ to 9¾. Stock quoted at 5 @ 5½ to 6½, according to quality and condition. A. Warner sold a good drove of 45 head of nice Ohio steers, weighing 57,350 to Duffey & Co., at 8¾. Smith & Talman sold Mayne & Co. 28 head of medium stock cattle at 5¾. J. B. Huff sold Mace & Co. 16 head, weighing 17,225, at 7,30. Smith & Talman sold G. Wernz 21 head, weighing 15,625, at 5¾, and same from sold Peter Kiemen 18 head, weighing 20,475, at 6. Hedges & Taylor sold Smith & Mooney 34 head of good retailing cattle, weighing 44,000, at 8¾. Klemen sold Wood, Morrell & Co. 18 head, weighing 20,700 at 8½.

HOGS.
